Job Description

If you:

Feel that a kid's art experience ought to resemble a well-planned display.
are captivated by transforming natural textures, light, and color into a child's creative language.
yearn for the chance to develop a distinctive project from 0 to 1.
In such a case, this invitation to co-creation may be tailored to you.

We Are Seeking

A "big kid" at heart: You exude contagious, upbeat energy, are able to play and connect with kids easily, and think that having fun is the easiest way to learn.

A "creative engine": You have a lot of imaginative thoughts. Beyond painting, you also create tales and games and take pleasure in making difficult ideas entertaining. "Doodling on walls" may be transformed into a city-saving quest, and "observing leaves" into a detective game.

Possess a background in art, design, or similar disciplines to be considered a "reliable doer." Wild ideas may be transformed into detailed lesson plans, and you can confidently lead kids to realize them.

What You Do

Create the tale and experience: Transform a concept into narratives and age-appropriate, exploratory activities.

Create Interesting Interactions: Convert creative ideas into projects that kids may explore and create art with.

Provide guidance on the artwork's ultimate presentation quality, material style, and on-site look.

Enjoy Creative Freedom: Within the basic structure, you will have as much room as possible to achieve your creative vision.
